HER Majeſty's Miniſter in Perſia having lately been ſent for to Audience of Schach Nadir received Aſſurances from his Highneſs, accompanied with a handſome Preſent, that he had no Intention of committing any ſort of Hoſtilities againſt her, but was firmly diſpoſed to preſerve the Peace and good Correſpondence between the two Empires

Peterſburgh, Feb. 22 On the 19th arrived his Britannick Majeſty's Ratifications of the Treaty of defenſive Alliance, lately concluded here between the Courts of Great-Britain and Ruſſia.

Don Philip having given a grand Entertainment in the Caſtle of Chamberry to the Ladies and Gentlemen of the Place on Shrove Tueſday, the Night after a Fire broke out ſo ſuddenly that he had been conſumed in his Bed, had he not been awaken'd by the Barking of a little Dog in his Room; and was obliged to eſcape in his Shirt only, and leave to the Flames his Cheſt of Money and all his fine Jewels. The beſt Part of the Caſtle was deſtroy'd Other Accounts ſay, that a Centinel drew his Highneſs out of Bed, but a few Minutes before the Floor fell in; for which he had a Reward of 100 Piſtoles, and the Command of a Troop of Horſe.

The Marquis de la Minas is fortifying Lancy a Village but a Mile from Geneva, which has occaſioned ſuch Apprehenſions in that City, that the Aſſembly has taxed thoſe who uſually paid 25 l. at 225 l.

ITALY.

There is no Reaſon to wonder at King Theodore's Partiality to the Queen of Hungary in his Edict, if we may believe, what is affirmed by many, that he did at the Beginning of January laſt enter into and ſign a ſecret Convention with her Majeſty, whereby he obliges himſelf to cauſe 12,000 Men to be raiſed in the Iſland of Corſica for her Service, and in caſe of Need to augment that Number to 16,000: That he will receive into his Ports, and protect, all Ships of War, and Merchants Ships, that ſhall belong to the Allies of the Queen of Hungary, and which they ſhall think fit to ſend to the Iſland of Corſica, for the ſake of Commerce or otherwiſe: He likewiſe promiſes, as well in his own Name as in that of the States of Corſica, to admit and give Entrance into that Iſland to a Body of 12,000 regular Tuſcan Troops, in order to eſtabliſh a Place of Arms there, which Troops ſhall act under his Command, in the Name of her Majeſty of Hungary: That he, and all his Subjects, will for ever hereafter acknowledge the Court of Vienna for their Protector and Support; in Conſideration whereof, a Subſidy is to be paid him of 300,000 Florins, as long as the preſent War ſhall continue: That he ſhall be ſupplied by her Majeſty with neceſſary Artillery and Ammunition of all ſorts: That as ſoon as an End ſhall be put to the War, and the Troubles of the Iſland appeaſed the above Subſidy ſhall ceaſe, and on the contrary he pay one to the Queen, and a new Convention and Regulation ſhall be enter'd into, as well in regard to the Troops which ſhall remain in the Iſland, as in reſpect to Commerce.

King Theodore has cauſed a large Quantity of Arms and Ammunition to be diſtributed thro' the Iſland of Corſica, has taken one Fort and put 60 Genoeſe Soldiers in it to the Sword, on which the Iſle of Roſſa was abandoned by the Garriſon, and ſeveral Bodies having deſerted to him, he has already an Army of 6000 Men.

Bologna, Feb. 28. M. de Gages has ſent Part of the Cavalry to Caſtle of St. Pietro and to Imola, and according to all Appearances, he will ſoon, with the reſt of the Troops take the Route of the Romagna. The Auſtrian General Novati has demanded of this City 200 Waggons of Hay, and the like Number of Wood, threathing to come and take them away by Force if delay'd, the Regency has thereupon ſent the Senator Angeletti to make Remonſtrances to Count Traun.

Mantua, March 2. Count Beyersberg, Lieutenant Field-Marſhal of the Armies of the Queen of Hungary, who at the Battle of Camps Santo received 22 Wounds, 6 of which were mortal, died a few Days ago aged 56. Count d'Aſtremont, Lieutenant General in the King of Sardinia's Army, is likewiſe dead of the Wounds he received in the ſame Battle Count Traun, who has received a Reinforcement of 7000 Men, has wrote to Cardinal Alberoni Legate of Bologna, and Cardinal Delci, Legate of Ferrara, to deſire them, conformable to what is cuſtomary, and was practiſed towards the Spaniards, to prepare the neceſſary Proviſions in the Places which ſhall be fixed upon by the Commiſſaries, for ſeveral Thouſand Troops, which the Service of the Queen his Miſtreſs requires to advance into the Territories of their Legations.

It is aſſured, M. de Gages is reſolved to give up the Command of the Spaniſh Army. He has demanded of Count Traun an Armiſtice for 3 Months, which was refus'd.

The Utrecht Gazette gives us the following curious Piece, and an Anſwer to it.

Memorial preſented to his Britannick Majeſty, by M. Guaſtalai the Genoeſe Miniſter in London.

SIRE,

THE Sentiments with which my Republick has all along endeavoured to preſerve a ſolid Correſpondence with the Crown of Great Britain, and ſtudied always to deſerve the Goodwill of your Majeſty and the Kings your Predeceſſors, are well known to your Majeſty, your Miniſters, and the whole Britiſh Nation; upon all Occaſions my Republick has had the Happineſs to be inform'd, by her Envoys and Miniſters at your Court, of your Kindneſs to her, and that her Behaviour towards you was agreeable to your Majeſty.

The Emperor Charles the 6th, Father to her Majeſty the Queen of Hungary, did grant auxiliary Troops to the Republick, in order to reduce the Kingdom of Corſica to the Obedience of its lawful Sovereigns; but after the Departure of theſe Troops, the Rebellion having broke out again, his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty was pleaſed to offer to bring back the Corſicans to their Duty and reſtore the Tranquility of the Iſland.

The Republick communicated that Treaty to your Majeſty, jesty, and beseech'd you to enter into Engagements so just, by granting her the Guaranty to Corsica, in the same Manner as had been done in Concert by the late Emperor and his most Christian Majesty.

Tho' your Majesty did not think fit at that Juncture to accede to that Treaty, yet you were so good as to make Answer to the Republick's Minister, that you were pleased with this Mark of her Regard and Attention; that you look'd upon the Succours offer'd by France as the best and only Means to put an End to the Rebellion; that the Republick might be assured of your Majesty's favourable Intentions, who had given her Proofs thereof before any other Prince did, in expressly forbidding all Officers of Ships under English Colours to transport to Corsica Arms & warlike Stores, or to hold any Manner of Correspondence with the Rebels.

After such signal Proofs of your Majesty's Regard for the Republick, and the Recent Assurances thereof which she has received on Account of what was lately done by Vice-Admiral Mathews's Squadron, we have Advices from divers Parts that Theodore de Neuhoff, known in the World to be the Author of the Troubles in Corsica, was in the British Seas, and intended to set sail for the Mediterranean. We have since learn'd that he appear'd on the Coast of Portugal on board an English Man of War commanded by Captain George Barclay; and that it was currently reported at Lisbon, that he was going to Corsica with Arms and Ammunition.

Afterwards we had Advice that he touch'd at Villa-Franca, in the said Ship, and at last, that he put into Leghorn about the Middle of February: That he receiv'd there on board his Ship several of the Principal of the exil'd and seditious Chiefs of the Corsicans, who had been dispers'd in several Towns in Tuscany: That he had a private Conference of several Hours with General Brettewitz, who came from Florence to Leghorn, and went on board the English Ship in Company with the British Consul. In fine, we heard that the said Theodore departed from thence with those Chiefs of the Rebels, all embark'd in the same Ship, in the Night of the 30th of last January, steering towards Corsica, in Company with another English Man of War called the Salisbury, commanded by Capt. Peter Osborn. That a few Days before, the said Theodore had dispatch'd an Emissary to Corsica, one Vinesi by Name, in another English Man of War, and had caused a seditious Edict to be dispers'd, dated in the 7th Year of his Reign; in which Edict he discovers his Views and Intentions against the Tranquillity of Corsica, even in Expressions so unguarded as the Powers of Europe might justly be offended at.

The Republick has received fresher Intelligence from her Commissary General and Commandants of the Towns in Corsica, viz. That the above mentioned Emissary of Theodore had landed in the Island; that he was spiriting up the People to a new Rebellion; that he promis'd them the Arrival of Theodore, with several English Men of War, Land-Forces, and a great Quantity of Arms and Ammunition. The said Commissary General and Commandants also write, that the Revenge and the Salisbury had appear'd on the Coast of Corsica, and landed Gun-powder and other warlike Stores at a Place call'd Isola Rossa; that these Ships cruized in that Sea in order to intercept, as 'tis said, the Succours that might be sent from Genoa, to the Places in the Island; and that in the mean Time they actually stopped, with their Long Boats, all the coasting small Craft under Genoese Colours, taking out their Cargoes, and detaining the Sailors on board their Vessels some Time; that Theodore, being still in the Revenge, had summoned the commanding Officers, of some little Forts, to surrender, otherwise they should be treated with the utmost Severity of War.

The Republick being perfuaded of your Majesty's magnanimous Sentiments, and of the Wisdom of your Ministry, who are a Pattern to other Nations in regard to Equity and Justice, the most constant Maxim of which has always been, That all Princes be maintain'd in their Rights and Dominions; the Republick, I say, cannot express the Surprize and Confusion which so positive and circumstantial Accounts have caused her: She cannot form any Conjecture well enough grounded about the Cause of so unforeseen an Event. She cannot imagine that the Commanders and Captains of the English Ships can, in their own Names, and thro' selfish Views, be guilty of such Attempts. Besides, she is very well assur'd, that if false Reports could have prejudiced your Majesty, you would not have fail'd to communicate your Sentiments to the Republick's Minister, to the End that she might justify herself in a proper Manner, until your Majesty was thoroughly satisfied.

I am charg'd, by Orders of my Republick, which have been dispatch'd to me by an Express, to represent most humbly to your Majesty all the above Things, and at the same Time to beseech you to cause the necessary Eclaircisements to be given to the Republick, to the End that, in her Anxiety, as well as in the Steps she may take, she may behave so as to deserve the just Approbation of the British Crown.

The Duke of N——le has declared to M Castalal, Minister from the Republick of Genoa, that the King was no Way privy to the Schemes of Baron Neuhoff; That if the Baron boasted of the Protection of England, it was upon very ill Grounds, and probably, to procure himself more Credit among the Corsicans; That as to the Rest, it was not in one of his Majesty's Ships that he sailed to Lisbon, in his Way to Corsica, and therefore it must be a Merchant Man that carried him thither; that the King would not be concerned in any Thing relating to Baron Neuhoff, and that his Majesty was ever ready to give the Republick Proofs of his Friendship.

GERMANY.

Vienna, March 13. The 7th Instant at Night, a Detachment of 30 Cuirassiers and 30 Grenadiers went to a private House, where a Free Masons Lodge was kept, and seiz'd about 30 Free Masons, who were sitting round a Table, which was cover'd with a black Cloth or Carpet, whereon were drawn divers odd Characters. On the Table stood Two black Candles lighted, a Death's Head, a large naked Sabre, and a Repister, containing the Names of 400 Brethren. Among them were several Persons of Distinction, who were soon releas'd.

Prince Charles of Lorrain being made Governor of the Netherlands, Count Kleverkuller is to command the Army with full Power to act as he shall think most necessary, and is gone to open the Campaign.

FRANCE.

Since the Death of Cardinal De Fleury the Spanish Party daily gets Strength, and a Match is confidently talk'd of between the Infanta Donna Maria Teresia and the Dauphin, which some good Frenchmen wish may not happen, because it may bring them too far into the wild and destructive Schemes of the Spanish Court——His Majesty is determined to oppose the new Army to Germany with a sufficient Force.

HOLLAND.

M. Reischach the Queen of Hungary's Minister having been taxed with a Declaration, that his Mistress would never consent to any Peace without seeing the Great Duke of Tuscany, her Husband, elected King of the Romans, has entered a Disavowal of it in all the Gazettes of this Country——Seven Ships of War are ordered to the Baltick, for the Protection of our Trade.

The Restrictions with which the Province of Friesland gave its Consent for the March of 20,000 Men, to the Assistance of the Queen of Hungary, relate particularly, as it's assur'd to the Prince of Orange. This Province protests against the Nomination of Foreign Generals, unless his serene Highness be declared General. But if the States General will agree to raise this Prince to the Generalship, the Province of Friesland will give its Consent to the Nomination of Foreign Generals; it would though be understood, that his Serene Highness shall take his Rank of standing from the last Promotion. The Consent of the Province of Zealand is scarcely to be doubted of. As to that of Guelderland, the Districts of Nimegen and Zutphen have agreed among themselves to give their Consent; but the Magistrates of the 3d District, which is that of Arnheim, still strongly persist in not giving Theirs, at least, it's said, 'till the Prince of Orange be nominated General. There will be no Difficulty in getting the Acquiescence of the Province of Over-Yssel, as soon as that of Guelderland will give its Consent. But in the Province of Utrecht, there is not yet one Voice for consenting to the March of the Troops.

P. S. By

P.S. By an Earthquake in the Kingdom of Naples, above 300 Perſons have been kill'd by the Fall of Houſes, the Cities of Taurentum and Brindiſi have ſuffer'd much; it was felt in Sicily and Malta, where the Palace of the Grand Maſter was damnified.

Count de Gages is made Captain General, for his Conduct at Carpo Santo.

Lord Theodore is return'd to Leghorn.

SUPPLEMENT
SOUTH-CAROLINA GAZETTE,

Monday, July 4th, 1743. [Numb. 484]

To the MANAGERS of the ORPHAN-HOUSE in Georgia, in the Absence of Mr. Whitefield.

Gentlemen,

MR. Whitefield having publickly ranged for several Years, and still continuing so to range all over his Majesty's Kingdoms and Colonies, Begging and Receiving Money from his Majesty's Subjects, for the Use and Support of an ORPHAN HOUSE in Georgia; the Publick, or his Majesty's said Subjects, have a natural, indisputable Right, to demand and receive full and faithful Accounts from Time to Time, (Quarterly or Half Yearly) how, or in what Manner, the said Money is applied, and of all Proceedings, Conduct, or Management, in, or concerning the said House. No such Accounts of the said House have hitherto appeared, (the imperfect, unvouched, nor any wise attested Ones, by Mr. Whitefield, only excepted) which has occasioned various Surmises and Reports concerning it, greatly to its Damage and Disgrace: As, viz. That instead of a real Orphan House, 'tis rather a Nest or Receptacle of idle vagabond Fellows and Hussies from all Parts, under Pretences of Religion, and under the Cloak or Screen of a few, some 8 or 10 Orphans; —— That 'tis a Gallimaufry sort of Protestant Petit Convent, of Men and Women, Boys and Girls (several of these latter being put and maintained there, by their zealot Parents or Relations) training up in a Manner, but little promising for the Interest, either of Church or State: — That 'tis a mere Engine or Bubble; devised by the Wesleys, Whitefield, and their Associates, for filling their own Pockets: And in Evidence of this, they say; — that however Mr. Whitefield has published some sort of unvouched, unattested Account of the Receipts and Disbursements of the Money, formerly collected by him for the said House, in England and America, yet no sort of Account has ever yet appeared, of the Money collected in England, in its Name and Behalf, by the Wesleys; — That by Mr. Whitefield's published Accounts it appears, that he has not credited the said House for several large Sums he begged and received for it; has lumped many Things, and over-rated others; — That since Mr. Whitefield's last Departure to Great Britain, he has left his poor Orphan House almost to its Shifts, and his poor dear Lambs, old and young, big and little, reduced once and again to a starving Condition, and to be supported chiefly by the Benefactions of a few zealous People in South Carolina, and the other American Colonies; notwithstanding the large Sums he has meen-time collected for them, both in England and Scotland, especially at famous Cambuslang, near Glascow.

Now (Gentlemen) in order to render to the Publick its Due, as well as to wipe off these present Reproaches cast upon the said House, and prevent all such for the future, I conceive it will be quite necessary for you, forthwith to publish full and sufficiently attested Accounts of the same, pursuant to these following Sets of Queries, and Specimen formed thereupon.

N. B. The Accompts to be first examined, by the Magistrates of Savannah, and attested upon Oath before them; and then published with their Certificate of their being so examined and attested.

THE above Specimen is only offered for your Improvement of it, to more Fulness and Particularity. The more full and particular your Accounts are, the more satisfactory must they be to the Publick; and the more satisfactory they are to the Publick, the more effectually must they engage, not only the Continuance, but the Increase of Benefactions to the House, wipe off all Aspersions already cast upon it, and prevent all such for the future: While, on the other Hand, the more you conceal Matters from the Light, and affect to amuse with Generals, or encomiastick Flourishes of your OEconomy, Decorum, Face of Religion, or Frequency of religious Exercises, (in all which you are vastly exceeded by most Religious Houses, or Convents either of Nuns or Friars, in Popish Countries) the more Ground you'll give to suspect fraudulent Dealing, and thereby discourage the Benefactions of the People, and speedily sink them, and consequently the House to nothing.

Mr Whitefield, you know, and his dear Lambs, have not all one, but two Purses; and tho' in his Course of Begging, he pretends to beg and receive in publick only for Them; yet in private, he presumes to beg and receive also for His own. Now as the Latter, 'tis generally tho't, must more or less interfere with the Interest of the Former, would it not therefore be expedient, that Mr. Whitefield should let the World know, how far it does so? What Sums he has all along received for his own Use? And what his travelling Expences have been? — And this the rather, as it has been observable enough, that while he has preached the Bread out of the Mouths, and the Cloaths off the Backs of other People, he has always sufficiently indulged his own frail Tabernacle, eat and drank, and wore of the best, at least much better than a professed Mendicant ought to do. I am,

South-Carolina,
June 25th, 1743.

Gentlemen,
Your most humble Servant,
PUBLICOLA.

P.S. Just as I had finished the above, came to Hand, by Accident, a printed Paper, signed Josiah Smith, and directed to the Rev. Mr Wm. Cooper in Boston, containing the Author's Sentiments or Account of your Orphan House, on a late Pilgrimage he has made to pay his Devotions there. The Paper as yet is put only into some private Hands, tho' possibly designed to be made more publick at a greater Distance.

What Weight Mr. Smith's Sentiments and Recommendations, concurring with those of other Pilgrims who have made Visits there, (and specially at this Juncture, when a general Collection is so earnestly sollicited 'mong all the Saints Saints in this Province, to save the poor Orphans from ſtarving, notwithſtanding the large Sums their great Patron has lately collected, both in England and Scotland for them) I muſt not take upon me to ſay; but this, I think, I may ſafely preſume to ſay, that the World in general will not be one Jot the wiſer, or better informed by them, than they were before. No more of your technical Flouriſhes, Gentlemen! enough and enough of them! Your Accounts; —your ſufficiently vouched and atteſted Accounts, as above ſpecified, is what the World calls for, and expects at your Hands.

That Mr. S. was wonderfully pleaſed with the ſituation, admirable Contrivance, &c. of the Houſe, may paſs from one, who never ſaw any Thing of the ſort, exceeding the Alms Houſe at Boſton. He calls for a Maſter of Deſcription, and much ſtronger Language than his own, to convey a full Idea (full Ideas meaning) of the OEconomy, Religious Rules, and Government of the Family;—How much more ſo muſt he have done, had his Viſit been to St. OMER's —The Family, he ſays, conſiſts of Seventy two Perſons, Forty two of them Orphans and Objects of Charity: But why Orphans, and Objects of Charity, thus huddled together? Why not the certain Number of each diſtinctly, their Names, and Ages? The Points in Queſtion are, how many of the 42 Perſons are real Orphans? And whether the other Objects of Charity are not a parcel of whimſical Creatures, who ſtrolled thither after Mr. Whitefield from diverſe Parts; for the Good of their Souls? And theſe Points has not Mr. S. left in the ſame Cloud as before? But ſuppoſing 10 or 12 of the 42, real Orphans, and the reſt other real Objects of Charity; pray what are the remaining 30? Are they all hired Servants? Rare OEconomy indeed! 30 hired Servants to attend 42 Children! And no one will think that any of them are employ'd in cultivating the Plantation, after Mr. Whitefield has declared, that ſo employ'd they could ſcarce earn themſelves ordinary Food and Rayment, excluſive of other Expences. As to you, Mr. Super Intendant of the ſecular Affairs, 'tis generally owned, that you and your Deputies or Aſſociates, whatever you are animated by, are the rareſt Run abouts that ever could have been pitched on. For ever one or other of you, either neſtling about in Charles Town, or on the Hook in other Parts of the Province, 'mong the Brethren and Siſters, ſcraping, ſqueezing the very laſt Mite from them — And as to you Mr. Commiſſioner of the Spirituals, I ſhall hope, that your celebrated Labours, may not turn out ſuch happy Fruits, as your Brother Davenport's did lately at New London —I never, (ſays Mr. S.) to my Knowledge, in any Society whatever, have ſeen more of the FACE of Religion. My Life for it, the Gentleman has never been in a Popiſh Country, never in any Popiſh Convents of either Fryars or Nuns; where he muſt have ſeen more of the FACE of Religion, more ſinging of Hymns and ſaying of Prayers, Night and Day; more Order, Decorum, and ſocial Harmony, abundantly. But why ſo taken with much Face of Religion? Has not much Face of Religion been yet enough plaid upon the World? Or are not the manyfold Miſchiefs and Miſeries the World has ſo often thereby ſuffered, ſufficient to teach it, fronti nulla fides;—the more Face, the leſs to be truſted? Much Face of Religion, you know, 'mong the Phariſees of old. They faſted twice a Week, paid Tithes of all they poſſeſſed, made broad the Phylacteries, prayed much and long, and even in the Corners of the Streets; yet midſt all this Face or Parade of Religion, they are charged with devouring Widows Houſes, and only for a Pretence making their long Prayers; — You know their Doom. Abundantly more alſo the Face of Religion, Order, Decorum, &c. in Popiſh Convents, than the Orphan Houſe in Georgia; yet what Proteſtant knows not Popery to be a Syſtem of Prieſt craft! pious Fraud! Spiritual Tyranny and Oppreſſion! However the much Face of Religion, Order, Decorum, &c. in the Orphan Houſe, had well nigh tempted Mr. S. to ſpend his whole Life in it I ſhould really be loth to truſt my Friend with a Sight of the College at St OMERS, or of any other the ſtricter Convents in a Popiſh Country. I ſhould greatly fear the Force of ſuch a Temptation! — Finally, Mr. S. is not without Hopes, that Providence is love the Foundation of human Literature alſo, &c. This favours ſo ſtrong of the Letter learned Rabbi, as may poſſibly occaſion ſome Doubt with you, whether Mr S. be the Man you take him for. For of what Uſe Human Literature can be in your Syſtem of Religion; of what Uſe in the Work Regeneration, and Operations of the Spirit, except it be to obſtruct them, neither you nor your Patron may eaſily conceive. No, no, Gentlemen, no human Literature beyond reading Engliſh. Hold faſt your Maxim, or Motto, ——
